

DEVELOPMENT IN INTERNATIONAL SYSTEM

TRANSITION & TRANSFORMATION

250-900

★ IMPORTANCE OF HISTORY: SOCIAL SCIENCE TRADITION

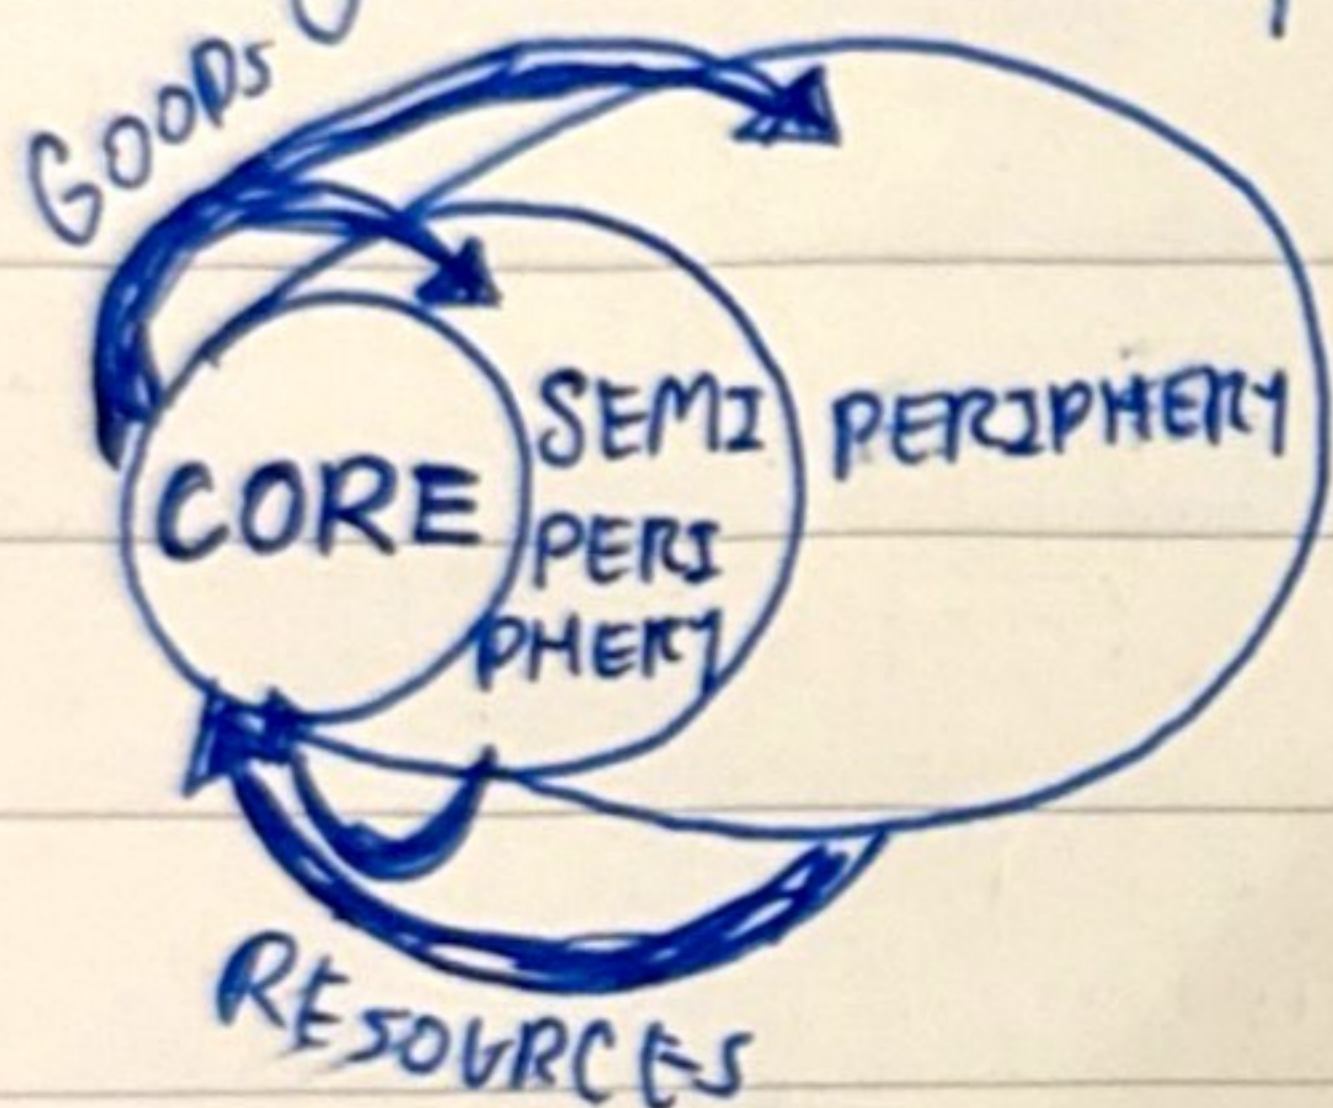

- Marxist + Neo-Marxist theory

- ↳ Marxist: emphasize class struggle & economic determinism as driving force to historical change

- ↳ Neo-Marxist: incorporate other factors
 - ↳ more than just economic class
 - ↳ culture, power, structure, social inequalities

- Fernand Braudel's world system theory

- ↳ global economy as a single interconnected system

Core countries exploited on semi- & periphery countries

European civilization as "inheritor" of Greek & Roman

- Social evolution

- ↳ Process of directional social change

iii

- ↳ Sapiens: A brief history of human kind

"European peopled theory"

★ BIAS THEORIES

- Imperialist context

- part of Roman empire's legacy

- ↳ under Greco Roman influence

- ↳ impact of ancient greek + Roman cultures on western civilization

Renaissance
Revival of Greco Roman

★ EMPIRICAL THEORY OF KNOWLEDGE: POSITIVIST APPROACH

- John Locke
- Positivist approach: emphasize on objectivity
 - ↳ facts point to an absolute conclusion
 - ↳ might be wrong about history being hard science
 - ↳ History is inherently subjective
 - ↳ it is dialogue + can hardly be controlled
 - + viewed in only one perspective

★ SUBJECTIVITY IN HISTORY

- History exploitation → intentional } by anyone → transformed itself
- ↳ unintentional } happens commonly
- Nation states & origin myths } unite disparate groups
- ↳ shared identity } of people
- Demagogue (ก. ๑๓๑๖๑๓๑๓๑๓) / historical reshaping

★ PERCEPTION & ANALYSIS OF HISTORY

Even though human progress in straight line, history DOESN'T work that way.

- It is dependent on how we look at societal change
- It works in different dynamics / aspects
- Time plays crucial role in shaping perception

EX. Financial crisis that happened over and over but under different circumstances, conditions and places

★ RIPPLES OF EFFECTS

single action/event can create a series of consequences, spreading outwards

- Non directional / non linear change

↳ changes can recur & are induced by many factors

- Absence of starting point

↳ doesn't always have clear origin

- Simultaneous occurrence

↳ many phenomena can happen together while one continent has

EX.

Europe
→ Asia

one systems, another can also have diff systems

★ POLARITY & DYNAMICS

-  Principles of Dealing w/

the changing world orders by Ray Dalio

↳ there's a pattern → overlapping cycles lasted ~ 250 years

M → 10-20 year transitions period between ↳ conflicts years bc leading powers don't decline w/ out fight

- Empire's

power

metrics

power of financial center

education
inventiveness

competitiveness in global market

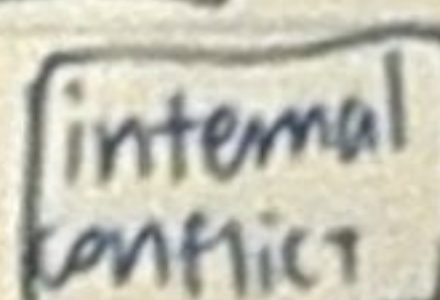

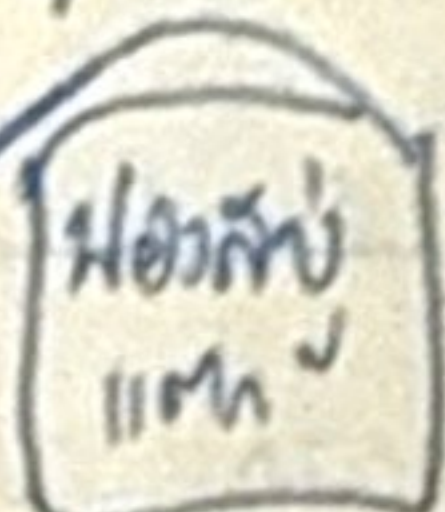

output

trade

reserve

status/currency

military strength

④ CULTURAL RELATIVISM

- Interpretation & representation of cultural history through

European lens

- Perception of media influence / material culture

★ EUROCENTRISM

An excessive focus on the cultural contributions & achievements of European societies

① IDEOLOGICAL EUROCENTRISM

- The belief in the inherent superiority of European culture → core of human development
- Justify European norms / violence / dynamics / marginalization that European has on other culture

② RESIDUAL EUROCENTRISM (residual = remains)

- Unconscious perpetuation of Eurocentric perspectives
- Even when European dominance is no longer present

EX. - uncritically adopting European models of development
- overlooking colonialism

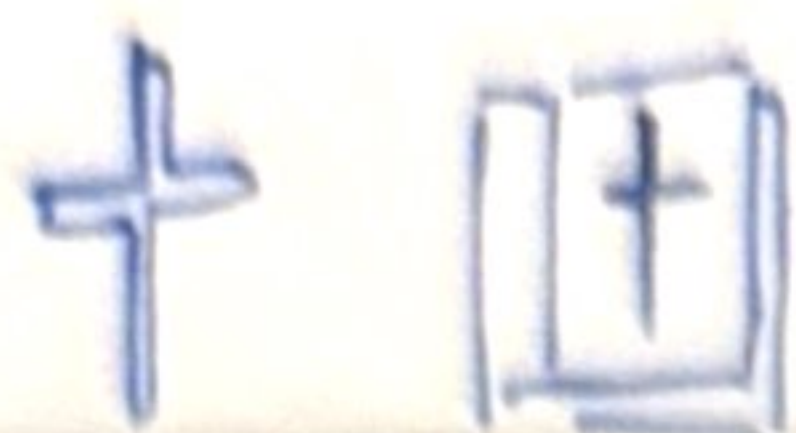

③ PHILOSOPHICAL EUROCENTRISM

- viewing European philosophy as the primary / sole source of valid philosophical thought
- Dismissing non-European philosophical traditions

propagation

★ PROBLEMS ON EUROCENTRISM

- Marginalization of non-European civilization
- minimize non euro achievements
- Biased historical narratives
- exaggerated European countries' achievement

EX. Protestant guy used to make assumptions about Catholics that they are lazier and less productive since they put emphasis on reading skills, which was required for protestants not Catholic. Therefore, European pushed literacy level higher til present

"Just because a country speaks English well, doesn't mean they are economically advanced"

★ EURO-ENVIRONMENTALISM

- European has geographical advantage
- European agricultural style has advantage

BIASED

→ This is NOT TRUE because this means that only agricultural type that leads to most developed is from European (???)

EX. British gave cows to Indian so they can be "wealthier" and send children to school

↳ turns out children has to drop out to raise cows

★ PATH DEPENDENCY

- Decisions + developments from ancient times continue to shape contemporary society

↳ Provide stability & predictability

↳ Can lead to resistance to change

↳ Cultural continuity

↳ innovation + adaptation

★ ANTIQUITY INHERITED IN MODERN WORLD

- ① Dutch
 - ② British
 - ③ US
 - ④ Chinese
- } overlapping lasted ~ 250 years

• Path dependency in global antiquity

- ↳ stability + predictability
- ↳ resistance to change
- ↳ cultural continuity
- ↳ innovation + adoption
