

Individual Term Paper Guidelines: Media and Political Imagination (2410408)
PGS, Faculty of Political Science, Chulalongkorn University

1. Title Page

- Title of the Paper: ???
- Student's Full Name: ???
- Student ID Number: ???
- Course: 2410408 Media and Political Imagination
- Instructor: Associate Professor Surat Horachaikul
- Date of Submission: December 4, 2025, in PDF format to surat.horachaikul@yahoo.com

2. Introduction

- Introduce the chosen film (basic information, director, year, genre).
- Explain the significance of the film and why it is worth studying.
- State the research question:
Which political theory best explains and interprets the film's themes, narratives, and political imagination?
- Present your central argument (thesis statement).

3. Literature Review / Background

- Summarize existing scholarly debates on the film (if available).
- Review relevant academic works on political theory and film studies.
- Identify the gap or unique perspective your paper will address.

4. Theoretical Framework

- Present and explain the chosen political theory (e.g., Realism, Liberalism, Marxism, Feminism, Constructivism, Postcolonialism).
- Clarify key concepts and assumptions of the theory.
- Explain why this theory is the most appropriate framework for analyzing your chosen film.

5. Analysis of the Film

(Main body of the paper can be divided into subsections depending on argument)

- Provide a brief synopsis of the film (only enough to support analysis).
- Analyze themes, narratives, characters, and political imagination of the film using the chosen theory.
- Demonstrate how the theory helps explain, for example:
  - Power relations
  - Institutions and authority
  - Social, economic, or cultural structures
  - Ideological messages or critiques
- Compare with alternative theories where relevant (show why your chosen one is stronger).

6. Discussion

- Connect the film's themes to real-world political issues.
- Assess the strengths and limitations of applying your chosen theory.

- Highlight what this analysis reveals about the relationship between film and political imagination.

7. Conclusion

- Restate your central argument.
- Summarize the main findings from the analysis.
- Reflect on the broader implications: how can film contribute to understanding politics?

8. References / Bibliography

- Use Chicago Style citation consistently.
- Include both course readings and external scholarly sources.
- Ensure all references cited in the text are listed here.

9. Formatting Requirements

- Length: 3,000 – 3,500 words (excluding endnotes and bibliography).
- Font: Times New Roman, 12-point.
- Margins: Standard (1 inch / 2.54 cm).
- Citation Style: Chicago Manual of Style.
- Submission: By Thursday, December 4, 2025, in PDF format to: surat.horachaikul@yahoo.com
- Email subject line: Submission of Individual Term Paper for GPE
- Email body: I, [Full Name], Student ID [Number], would like to submit the individual term paper for Media and Political Imagination.

10. Evaluation Rubric (100%)

1. Topic & Research Question (10%)

- Clarity and originality of the topic
- Relevance to course themes
- Feasibility of the research question

2. Argument & Thesis (20%)

- Presence of a clear central argument
- Consistency and persuasiveness
- Engagement with different perspectives

3. Evidence & Research (20%)

- Use of sufficient scholarly sources
- Balance of theoretical and empirical material
- Integration of course and outside research

4. Analysis & Critical Thinking (20%)

- Depth of analysis beyond description
- Evaluation of evidence and competing arguments
- Original insights and critical reflections

5. Structure & Organization (10%)

- Logical flow of introduction, body, and conclusion

- Clear paragraphing and transitions
  - Coherence in supporting the argument
6. Writing Style & Language (10%)
- Clarity, precision, and academic tone
  - Proper grammar, spelling, and vocabulary
7. Referencing & Academic Integrity (10%)
- Consistency in citation (Chicago Style)
  - Complete and accurate bibliography

Please remember that Chulalongkorn University's Zero Tolerance Policy on plagiarism applies. Any plagiarism will result, at minimum, in a grade of F for the entire course. The use of artificial intelligence or other automated writing tools to generate or compose any part of the paper is strictly prohibited; students found doing so will likewise receive, at minimum, an F for the entire course.